December

National Day of Remembrance and Action Against Violence Against Women	These are the 14 young women who, on Dec. 6, 1989, were killed at the École Polytechnique in Montreal in what became known as the Montreal Massacre. The anniversary of their deaths has been designated the National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women to remind us that dozens of women die v The murder of these women was not an isolated act of violence. Violence against women exists in many forms in homes, in schools, in workplaces and in the community. This violence can be stopped by working to make violence against women unacceptable and by working to achieve equality between men and women	Suited for Pathfinders and up Community Connections Healthy Living Ranger Service Project	Instant Meeting Contact your local Status for Women and participate in their programming for this day
